

Summary

Device for Coding, Transmitting and/or Receiving Signals

Summary

<

Abstract of the Disclosure

By the use of a device for the coding, transmitting, and/or receiving of non-verbal, i.e., emotional signals, the [[said]] non-verbal, i.e., emotional signals are sent from an input device (3), which contains at least one sensor (10) for the capture of a touching, a pressure or a deformation, which is received, picked up and measured and transmitted over a network , whereby a receiver possesses an receiving device (3), which translates the transmitted signals into visual, acoustic and/or mechanically discernable signals, such as, for example, vibration.